

HOME CONTENTS INVENTORY CHECKLIST

If you experienced a total loss of the contents of your home, would you be able to compile a list of everything? Your Homeowners insurance provides coverage for the contents of your home up to the limit you selected with your insurance agent.

In the event of a covered loss, however, you would be expected to provide a list of all your personal property that was damaged or stolen along with its estimated value. Maintaining an accurate inventory list of your personal property can help make the claim settlement process easier and faster.

That's why Smart Insurance Agency has compiled this easy-to-use and important checklist to use.

Getting Started:

Plan to tackle one room at a time. This will make this task seem less burdensome. You can also assign each family member a room and have make it their responsibility to track the items in their assigned room. Whatever you decide, do not give up!

Video and photo documentation. Begin by opening all cabinets and closets and carefully go through each room filming or photographing each closet, shelf and cupboard's contents, as well as recording details of furniture and electronics. Ensure you focus on serial and model numbers for large appliances, and electronics. Lastly, save copies of the photo and video in two places, just in case your computer or camera is damaged/stolen or lost.

Receipt Tracking. Try to keep all of our major receipts for things like TV, appliances, electronics and other high-value purchases. Store these receipts along with your other important documents. These can be used as "proof of value" when filing a claim for a missing or damaged item.

Registering Goods. You can register many electronics and appliance purchases with the manufacturer. This is an additional place your purchase information can be stored.
